State Guard Spends Night In Camp

Andover Contingent Learns How To Play The Old Army Game In Methuen Manoeuvres

Sleeping inside a cold armory all night with the wind whistling around their army blankets, marching with packs all the way to Methuen, guards posted, lectures by the commanding officers—yes, it was army life with all the fixings for some twenty Andover fellows last Saturday night, when four companies of the 24th Infantry, Massachusetts State Guard, held an overnight encampment on the grounds of the Methuen armory.

They had been warned before they left their Lawrence headquarters that afternoon that they were in for a real workout, and, after marching about five miles to their destination, they were ready to believe it. Communiques penetrating to Andover said that the lines of men in front waiting for foot repair work of the first aid station, were longer than those of movie box offices back home on Sunday night.

Seriously, though, the field work which turned out to be more of a field workout was a most interesting experience for the fifteen or more Andover members of the contingent. Their first army encampment found them living among army discipline and the army system, and they found it unbeatable.

HALT! WHO GOES THERE?

There were incidents, of course, which gave them a good bit of fun. Lieut. Col. Edward Sirois of Lawrence, for instance, now with the YD at Camp Edwards, but a familiar figure at the Methuen armory for the past twenty years, found that even he couldn't get past the alert sentries who had been posted to serve during the night. Company D's Elroy Richardson, of Lawrence, made him go through the whole military routine before letting him enter the armory. To Lieut. Col. Sirois, it was like being locked out of his own home.

No, it was a case of all work and no play. The boys had quite a session around the barracks piano Saturday night, with several of them doing pretty well at making the rafters ring with song. It was said afterwards that you could hear them as far as—oh well, let it go.

The real business of the field day and bivouac, however, was learning how to do things the army way, and the men of the four state guard companies managed to pick up quite a lot in the twenty-four hours they were encamped.

SIX MILES ON FOOT

They learned how to walk, for one thing. Setting out from the Lawrence armory around 2:30 Saturday afternoon, they swung up Essex street, down to Water street, then all the way out to the Methuen armory on the Lowell boulevard. That, they were ready to agree, is no mean hike.

Shortly after their arrival, retreat was sounded, and the men, and such spectators as had gathered to watch the ceremony, participated in the exercises of lowering the flag. By that time, supper was ready, and they proved their adeptness at what the military call a mopping up operation.

Until 9:30 that night, the men were on their own, and spent the time in looking over the situation, and indulging in the impromptu song festival already alluded to. By 10:30, they were snug in their beds.

UP WITH THE SUN

"Snug" may be a misleading term. The night was cool, but the regulation army blankets were hot and prickly. The strangeness of the surroundings themselves was enough to make their sleep a little uneasy. At any rate, most of them were awake and ready to go at the crack of dawn, a fortunate thing, as that was precisely what was expected of them.

At 6:30 Sunday morning, when even the roosters were yawning, the guardsmen awoke to the inevitable bugle, and, after a brief inspection, they were ready for breakfast—all right, then, "mess"—at 7:30. At 8:15, services were held for all the denominations represented by the guardsmen, in temporary quarters in the armory.

Next on the program was practice and instruction on the firing range, as illustrated on our front cover. Guardsmen heard Captain Henry Patnaude, commanding officer of the Methuen company, describe the methods of prone, sitting, kneeling, and off-hand, or standing, range firing positions. The captain, by the way, is considered a rifle expert, as well as one of the best drillmasters in the country, and has taken part in numerous national rifle competitions.

REAL MARKSMEN IN OUTFIT

Under his tutelage, the guardsmen are rapidly rounding into shape as good riflemen. Last week, they reported at the Lawrence armory to qualify on the inside range, each man firing thirty rounds in all the different shooting positions. Giving some evidence that they have Daniel Boone blood flowing somewhere in their veins, all of them passed with flying colors, and are now eligible to take the considerably harder tests on the outside range at Camp Curtis Guild, Wakefield.

The rifle instruction just about concluded the agenda for Sunday. After having dinner in the armory, the men lined up for another brief assembly, and then were dismissed. Walk back to Lawrence? No sir—these seasoned campaigners knew what that was like, and made the return trip in the comparative comfort of army trucks.

THIRTEEN REPRESENTED ANDOVER

All the Andover men making the trip were members of Company D, which has its headquarters in Lawrence. Its commanders, Captain Clyde A. White and Lieut. Raymond G. Mowat, are both Andover men. The others representing this town are the company's three corporals, Irving J. Whitcomb, George A. Porter and Walworth Johnson, and Privates Andrew Baillie, Robert V. Deyermund, Winslow Dunselle, Allen M. Flye, Edward McCabe, William Tammany, James Platt and Richard Wrigley. Several other members of the company from Andover were unable to make the trip.

The whole idea of the State Guard, of course, is to replace the National Guard units, now in the federal service, in such local emergencies as fires, riots, strikes, and floods. Company D was formed last April, and consists, at present, of 38 men. Its full quota is 45, and Andover men wishing to enlist in the company will be accepted until the quota is filled.

THOSE SNAPPY UNIFORMS

The State Guard is made up strictly of volunteers, and there is no pay offered for their services. They are, of course, supplied with complete equipment, consisting of rifle belts, packs, .30 calibre Enfield rifles and regulation bayonets. Their uniform is quite distinct from army dress, and includes forest green trousers and jacket, brown shoes, khaki shirt, black tie, and green campaign hat. The whole outfit is as natty as it is serviceable.

Col. Frank Gibbs, commander of the regiment, reviewed the Andover men's company for the first time Sunday, and remarked that the enthusiasm and interest shown by the guardsmen give all the evidence that in a short time, in spite of the fact that they are able to drill only two nights a week, they will form a well-organized and efficient emergency force.

Though the four State Guard companies hereabouts are all infantry, Company D is called the special weapon outfit. It contains a picked emergency squad of nine men, staffed by a lieutenant, sergeant and corporal, whose function is to offer immediate aid in any emergency, and form a temporary stop-gap till the whole available manpower can be brought into position.

Drills are held every Monday at the Lawrence armory, beginning at 7:30 in the evening, and lasting about two hours. In addition, a non-commissioned officers school is held every Thursday, which any soldier may attend to prepare himself for a more advanced rating.

NOW READY FOR ADVANCED TRAINING

The group has, by now, completed the Abbott and Costello stage of their training, and can no longer be classed as raw recruits. However, new enrollees will find it fairly easy to catch up, as they will receive individual attention from the company commanders. Men barred from entering the army but who, because of circumstances, are who have an inclination for performing worthy service for their country, will find Company D an outfit of which they can be proud.

Ladder Truck Arrives; New Features Improve Service

Townsman Cameraman Donald Look looks down at the new aerial ladder truck as it points skyward to the top of the town hall.

(Look Photo Service)

People everywhere take more than an ordinary interest in the work of the fire department. To everyone except the firemen themselves, perhaps, there is a certain glamour that is found in no other profession, and certainly none offers more opportunity to indulge in unexpected thrills and dangerous experiences.

So it was that, when the news began to get around last Monday, that Andover's first new piece of equipment in several years was due to arrive at the Central Fire Station, practically every made citizen with a few minutes to spare dropped by to take a look at the new ladder truck.

William Starr, master mechanic of the Boston office of the American LaFrance company, makers of the new truck, and several members of the local fire department, gave an informal demonstration of the method of operating the new piece while an interested gathering looked on. The chief feature seemed to be an aerial ladder, 65 feet long, which may be extended to any height, from any angle, and in any direction, from a turntable on top of the truck.

Equipment has not been fully installed in the new truck, and some of the former Engine 1's accoutrements will be transferred to it when the older truck is withdrawn from service. However, the new apparatus, as it stands now, is equipped with eight wooden ladders, one each of 50, 35, 12, and 16 feet, and two each of 20 and 28 feet. Other fire-fighting implements include axes, hooks, shovels, forks, crowbars, tin cutters, as well as a booster pump and tank.

New means of combating fires may be employed with the use of a new type of folding ladder, 8 feet long, to be used mostly for inside work in cramped quarters. Dugas, a spray, particularly adapted to the counteracting of electrical fires, will be used for the first time by the local fire department. Whereas the old engine fought fires with gas alone, which could be ejected only at the pressure furnished by the tank itself, the new truck has a large well and hose line, and can throw water at any necessary pressure. Using water instead of gas, it can replenish its supply several times at the scene of a fire.

It is planned to install on the new truck whatever is suitable of the old ladder truck's equipment. Among this will be the large flood lights and the small hand and spot lights now found on the old truck.

Life-nets are also to be installed on it.

The new truck is not yet in service, since it has not yet been accepted by the Board of Selectmen, has no Massachusetts registration, and has many new fixtures yet to be installed. It will not be prepared to give service at fires for possibly two weeks more, when it will be ready for its regular calls at the Central Fire Station.

WEDDING

Markey-Levis

In a pretty ceremony at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in St. Patrick's Church, Lawrence, Miss Anna R. Levis, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Levis of 97 Cambridge street, Lawrence, became the bride of Walter A. Markey, son of Mrs. Emily Markey of Chestnut street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Galvan.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle, princess style, with full skirt with back shirring and slight train. She had a finger veil of French illusion tulle, caught up by a tiara of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses and babies' breath.

Her sister, Miss Cecilia A. Levis, as maid of honor, and wore a rock of orchid faille in bouffant style, with a matching hat. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and babies' breath.

The bride's mother wore a deep red costume with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Frank Markey, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception for the immediate families of the bride and groom followed the ceremony, and was held at the Country Gardens in North Andover.

After a motor trip to Maine, the couple will reside at 95 Cambridge street, Lawrence.

BUSINESS

Flagg To Help Form Insurance Standards

Burton S. Flagg of School street, head of the Smart and Flagg Insurance Agency and president of the Merrimack Mutual Insurance company, was recently appointed one of four directors representing the business of Mutual Insurance in this country, on a board selected to establish professional standards of education in fire and casualty insurance.

Mr. Flagg is a past president of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S FELLOWSHIP

The initial meeting of the season for the Young Peoples' Fellowship was held last Friday evening at the home of the Misses Mary, Marjorie and Melissa Irwin on Stratford road. Plans for the new year were discussed, and games and dancing were enjoyed. Rev. John Shapleigh Moses, new pastor of Christ Church, and Mrs. Moses, were guests of honor at the meeting.

Brimer Named As Chest Vice-Chairman

The Community Chest drive, to be held during the week of October 20, is rapidly taking shape under the direction of Kenneth L. Sherman, this year's town chairman.

He recently announced that the important post of vice-chairman for the campaign is to be filled this year by Wallace Brimer of Orchard street. Mrs. Agnes Cross has also accepted a post with the Chest, as captain of the Andover district teams, and Mrs. Fred Nowell is to be in charge of the Ballardvale teams.

Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's Church, and a zealous Chest worker last year, is slated to serve on the Andover committee this year, and will be the principal speaker at the dinner which will start the ball rolling.

Large Attendance At Arbroathian Get-Together

About 375 people attended the fifth annual, state-wide Arbroathian get-together, held last Saturday evening in the Memorial Auditorium.

After a catered supper served at 6:30, an entertainment, consisting of a concert and general dancing, was enjoyed. Featured in the concert were several well-known local singers, among them being Mrs. Mary Caldwell Harris, James Bateson, Miss Isabel Greenhow, Hector Patullo, Jr., and Henry Fairweather.

The Arbroathians plan to send the net proceeds of the get-together to the Rotary Club of Arbroath, Scotland, for the relief of soldiers who have been made prisoners of war. In charge of arrangements were James Watt, chairman, and Fred Scott, William Watt, Robert Low, Mrs. John Greenhow, Mrs. James Watt, and Miss Ella Petrie.

TONIGHT—War Pictures At Square And Compass Club

Two qualified sources give information on the current British war effort tonight, to the members of the Andover Square and Compass Club. The first is a moving picture taken by the British Navy entitled "Thumbs Up," which shows the evacuation of Dunkirk and other dramatic events of the war; the second is Captain L. Denis Peterkin of Hidden road, who will comment on the war situation.

The bowling season for the club gets under way tomorrow night at the Andover Recreation alleys, the program to start at 7:30 p. m.

TOMORROW NIGHT—First Dance By Swingmasters

Coming up tomorrow night is the first sponsored dance of the season, to be held in the Memorial Auditorium by a new organization called the Swingmasters.

Prize waltzes and fox trots are among the many features planned for the dance, and the music is to be furnished by the All-Star Band, composed of musicians formerly connected with leading orchestras all over the country.

In charge of arrangements are Miss Teresa Burbine, Miss Edith Fettes, Larry Grant, Vito Ripa, and James and Joseph Davey.

OCTOBER 4—Open House At Historic Brook Farm

Several members of the Andover Historical Society are planning to be present, this Saturday, at the centennial commemoration of the founding of Brook Farm, famous social experiment of the last century. Located at 670 Baker street, Roxbury, Brook Farm was, for several years, the home of Emerson, Thoreau, Hawthorne, Bronson Alcott, Margaret Fuller, and other nineteenth-century leaders of New England thought.

The farm will be open to visitors all afternoon, and at 3 o'clock, Prof. Arthur E. Bester of Columbia University will speak in the Robert Gould Shaw School, situated on Mount Vernon street, Beacon Hill. All members of the Andover Historical Society, and their guests, are invited.

The autumn meeting of the Bay State League is called for Saturday afternoon, October 18, when the Plymouth Antiquarian Society will play host. No details have as yet been announced, but Andover visitors are assured of interesting proceedings.

OCTOBER 6—Woman's Club 20th Anniversary

The twentieth anniversary of the Shawsheen Village Women's Club will be celebrated at the first meeting of the season next Monday night, at 8 o'clock, in Balmoral Hall.

A pageant, "March of Time," will be the principal feature. The history of the club, written by the president, Mrs. Frederick C. representing the founding and progress of the club, being portrayed by members of the various committees under the direction of Mrs. J. Alblon Burtt, Mrs. H. Garrison Holt, Mrs. Garfield S. Chase, Miss Anne Harnedy, Mrs. Frederick C. Smith, Mrs. Joseph T. Gagne, Mrs. William W. Kurth, and Mrs. Frederick McCollum, Jr.

Mrs. Emma Gould Carter, the first president of the club, will cut the birthday cake. The hostess chairman will be Mrs. C. Lester Connor and Mrs. Edward R. Lawson of the hospitality committee.

OCTOBER 9—Vale Guild Has Chop Suey Supper

Something a little different is being tried out by the members of the Friendly Guild of the Union Congregational Church, in the form of a Chinese chop suey supper. The supper is scheduled for the evening of October 9, at 6:30 in the church vestry. Tickets are now available with Ralph Sharpe in charge.

OCTOBER 10—Public Whist By Male Choir Auxiliary

Coming up next Friday night, October 10, is a public whist party, to be held at 8 o'clock in the Male Choir rooms by the ladies' auxiliary to the Andover Male Choir.

Many prizes have been obtained to be awarded to the party, by the following committee: Mrs. Herbert Merrick, Mrs. James Gillespie, Mrs. Alfred Greenfield, Mrs. George Knipe of South Lawrence, Mrs. John Knowles of North Andover, Mrs. James Hodges and Mrs. J. Everett Collins.

OCTOBER 18—Alumni Day For Phillips' Old Grads

Lame, halt, and blind, or tall, dark and handsome, old and young graduates of Phillips Academy expected to return to their haunts on Saturday, October 18, an extensive Alumni Day program headed by the annual Andover Harvard Frosh football game.

The events of the day will take place in a sequence something like this: 7:30, breakfast at Commons; 8:00, guided tours about the campus or visits to class rooms; 10:00 morning assembly in the Meeting Room, conducted by the Headmaster, with award of the Sullivan Prizes for Improvement. A second tour of the campus starts at 10:15 to be followed at 11:45 by the dedication of a portrait of the late Dr. Pierson S. Page in the Board Gymnasium. Luncheon at the Commons at 12:15 will be followed by speeches by Dr. Claude M. Fues, Headmaster, and Elliott Evans Vose, president of the Student Council, while F. Abbot Goodhue will preside. After attending the football game in the afternoon, guests of the Academy, the alumni are invited to attend a tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fues. The day's program will conclude with supper at the Commons, and moving in the Meeting Room at Georgetown Washington Hall.

Punchard Meets Danvers; Looks Good In Opener

Following an auspicious opening win in its game with the Andover Jayvees, the Punchard High squad has been working out with snap and precision this week, pointing for a second victory over Danvers, when it plays at their field Saturday.

Punchard fared far better than had been expected in last Saturday's contest with the Andover Jayvees. The unusually clever running of Henry Buntin, elusive half-back on the Punchard eleven, featured what was otherwise a colorless contest, and aided materially in the high school's running up a total of twenty points to none for the visitors. He made all three touchdowns, two of which came after long and spectacular runs.

Buntin, who did almost equally well last season, looks like an all-suburban back this season. Harry Duke, sidelined earlier in the week with a recurrence of an old knee injury, was apparently not hampered by it during the game, and played during the greater part of the contest. The plunging of Gil Hamlin, powerful newcomer to the Punchard squad, was also noteworthy last Saturday.

Altogether, it was a creditable start for a new team and a new coach, and augurs well for the newly-opened season.

All-Stars — St. Monicas Sunday; Tie Romans, 7-7

Undeclared in its first two games, but tied Sunday by the strong Roman A. C. eleven of Lawrence, the Andover All-Stars look for a victory over the St. Monica Eagle semi-pro team from Lawrence, which opens its season with the Andover aggregation Sunday.

The All-Stars seemed to have the edge all through the game last Sunday, but had to be content with a 7-7 tie. Their only score came on a blocked punt by Capt. Donald McLaughlan, former Punchard ace, who fell on the ball over the goal-line for the tally. Especially toward the end of the game, when the local team penetrated deep into enemy territory, it looked as if they were due to boost the score, but eventually they were unable to break the tie.

On the other hand, it took the Romans just three plays in the second period to score from their own 35-yard line, on a buck, a long pass and a flashy end run by Tripoli of the invaders. Jerry Perocchi, former Lawrence High, and Lawlor A. C. backfield man, contributed several long and spectacular runs, but there was no further scoring.

Legion Installs New Officers Tonight

With the usual impressive Legion ritual, County Commander Benjamin Currier and his suite, of Amesbury, will install the newly-elected officers of Andover Post 8, American Legion this evening, in its rooms on Park street.

Music is scheduled to accompany the ceremony, and refreshments will be served at its conclusion.

The officers to be installed include Harold A. Wood, commander, Edgar Northam, senior vice-commander, Louis W. Muise, junior vice-commander, Joseph A. McCarthy as adjutant, Harold Peters as finance officer, Frank P. Markey as service officer, Louis A. Mears as chaplain, Scott A. Paradise as historian, George Wilcox as sergeant-at-arms, and Stafford A. Lindsay, H. Garrison Holt and George C. Napier as executive committee-men.

DEATHS

Mrs. Lillian K. (Mooney) Sanders, widow of George Sanders, died Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Reed, of 7 Buxton court. A native of West Canaan, N. H., where she was born 69 years ago, she had made her home here for the past two years.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a son, George E. Sanders of Framingham; two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Wright of Nantucket, and Mrs. Electa Henderson of Tilton, N. H., and five grandchildren and one grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at the Lundgren Funeral Home, by Rev. Elton E. Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church. Interment was in the Edgewood Cemetery at Nashua, N. H.

Mrs. Anna Dailey Wilcox, wife of Hudson F. Wilcox, 106 River road, died Sunday at the Delaney Hospital in Lowell. She had been in failing health for sometime. She was born in Lawrence 72 years ago but had resided in Andover for 60 years, and was a graduate of Punchard High School. Mrs. Wilcox was a member of the West Church for 36 years and was deeply interested in all its affairs.

Besides her husband she leaves a daughter Mrs. Helen L. Richardson, one son, Gilbert, of San Francisco, and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Lundgren funeral home and services were conducted by Rev. Donald H. Savage, pastor, and Rev. Newman Matthews, pastor emeritus of the West Church. Interment was in West Parish cemetery.

Smith P. Burton, Jr., 84 years old, and a resident of Andover for the past 20 years, died last Thursday at his home at 134 Elm street. He was a native of Albany, N. Y.

Funeral services were held at the home Saturday afternoon, with Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South Church, officiating.

The bearers were Fred Cheever, Charles K. Klingemann, David Johnson, and Robert G. Starr.

Interment was in the Forest Hills cemetery, Boston, where Rev. Mr. Noss conducted committal services.

★★EDITORIALS★★

It's Going to Hurt

Yesterday some new taxes went into effect. Women who buy furs and cosmetics, and the men who pay the bills for the furs and cosmetics and also like to buy a little liquor besides, will find the 10 percent tax quite a serious addition to the family expenses.

But that's not all. That is only the beginning. There will be many more similar excise taxes and, in addition, Secretary Morgenthau has already scared the nation with his announcement of the proposed income tax changes. With the Federal Government spending billions and billions of dollars on war materials, it is obvious that the Federal taxation program must be expanded to cover these enormous costs. The taxes that went into effect yesterday were mostly on items that can be considered luxuries, but the program is going to hit the necessities of life, too. Prices are going up at an alarming rate, and with industries being forced to pay heavier taxes and finding it difficult to get raw materials, there seems no possibility of a levelling off of the price structure.

Next March 15 is going to be a difficult day for many people. Those who have paid taxes on their incomes before will probably find that they have to pay a great deal more this time; and, furthermore, the exemption limits will probably be reduced to include thousands and thousands of people who never had to pay before. That money has to come from somewhere. Wages haven't increased anywhere near as much as prices and taxes have. With less to spend, we shall have to find somewhere in our budget a great deal of money for income taxes.

This means that this year, more than ever, we here in Andover are going to have to be very, very careful about what we spend at town meeting. If the Federal Government is taking most of our taxation money, we will have far less to spend for our local taxes. Our rate in Andover went down a dollar this year. It's got to go down much more next year, and that is going to mean an organized effort in cutting expenditures and limiting special appropriations wherever they are not absolutely necessary.

What Do You Think?

(Not many people have editorial columns to write in, but most people have thoughts they'd like to put in an editorial column. This week these thoughts were confided to us. Why don't you write in your opinion on them? Publication of these editorial thoughts does not necessarily mean Townsman endorsement of them.)

Why don't you write an editorial about: Removing the car tracks on Main street? A comparison between some of the streets in Lawrence and in Haverhill would not be particularly flattering to Andover, for in those two cities, with W. P. A. assistance, they have removed the rails—or completely covered them—so that the danger of serious accidents from slippery car rails has been entirely averted. Certainly, here in Andover, we have spent money to far less public advantage than it would be spent on such a project as removing the street car rails. Granted that the condition near the mouth of Argilla road was bad from a traffic standpoint, isn't it far better to spend our money first? Certainly the traffic on Main street is so very much more heavy on the more serious traffic hazards than that on Andover street that there should be no doubt which project should come first in the list of necessary jobs to be done.

Why don't you write an editorial about: The way the Andover police, at times, go out of their way to help strangers in town? One man from out of town told me that on Sunday night, quite late, he had a flat tire in front of the Memorial Hall Library and the police were very cooperative in helping him out of the difficulty which has arisen because of the seven o'clock closing of service stations. A lady at the same time had a flat tire in another section of the town and they proved equally as obliging in this case. Such action on the part of our police officers makes a very favorable impression on outsiders, and it is something that the town of Andover should be very grateful for.

Why don't you write an editorial about: The absolute lack of enforcement of the Board of Health rules on garbage collection. Under Section 4 of Chapter 15 of the local Board of Health rules and regulations, garbage collected or carried through the streets "shall be put and carried in a closed covered vehicle, box or container, from which no odors can escape and shall at all times when not necessarily opened to deposit such refuse be kept securely covered." Many of the garbage collectors in Andover fail to comply in any way with this regulation which is a very wise one and which should be enforced. If the police officers in town see any of these uncovered trucks it should be their duty to stop the drivers and warn them that a second offense will court action. If the police officers haven't seen such trucks, there must be something wrong, for everybody else in town sees them several times a week.

This Sober Town

Towering aspirations are those of the Townsman cameraman, Donald Look. Most uplifting news of the week was the arrival of the new aerial ladder truck, and as Donald saw it lift its 65 feet of ladder skyward, he decided that he couldn't let a mechanical monster like that best him. Anybody could take a picture from the ground looking up at that thing; he decided to take one from up looking down.

Next thing for him to do was to get on the trail of a proper vantage point, and with his nose for news he soon found ascent. Nearest thing to heaven he could find was the fire station tower, and so he soon had his long legs clambering up the stairs. By the time he reached the window about three-quarters of the way up, his long legs weren't clambering anymore. At that point he peered cautiously out the window down at the scene below, and it was below, 'way below. Then he glanced down at the first and second floors, and probably thought that he should have stayed in first or second rather than going into high.

But after a moment of hesitation, he was off again. Soon he appeared in the open bell tower. His neck craned out very, very carefully, and when nothing happened he very, very carefully placed his legs out under his neck, after having taken a very deep gulp of ozone. He obviously was a little jittery, but when he came down he confessed that it wasn't the high altitude, it wasn't the cold stratospheric air, but it was a strange fear that horned in on his thoughts 'way up there. "What," said he to himself "would happen to me if the fire alarm rang now?" If you've ever been walking along Park street when the six o'clock or eight o'clock whistle blows, that nearly knocks you off your feet. Imagine where Donald would have landed if the whistle and bell had gone off while he was practically caressing them!

Talking about Look brings us back to Life. When Rev. Mr. Johnson was paying his subscription yesterday, he asked if the ten percent tax applied to the Townsman. We said, "No, the Townsman's not a luxury; it's one of the necessities of life, like bread." And that's what made us think of Life. The people that work for that magazine think they're like bread—the staff of Life.

Donald said later that he felt slightly dizzy 'way up there, "like the millionaire who had dizzy spells and saw ten-spots before his eyes." Does Donald pun? Does he? Once he told us about a maid that worked for his father; "everytime she was late, he Doctor."

We've been taking an inventory of all our supply of paper here at Smith & Coutts. And it's quite a long job. But it's good if you have insomnia: you go home at night, lie down, and then begin to count sheets, to see how much live stock you have.

Soloists Announced For Community Orchestra

Three of the four soloists who on December 5th will sing Handel's "Messiah" with the Andover Community Orchestra and the Andover Male Choir, have been announced by Herbert Kinsolving, manager of the orchestra: Dorothy Eccles, soprano; Carol Taylor, contralto; and John Hill, tenor. These three, well known to local music lovers, will shortly be joined by a basso, with whom negotiations are now being carried on.

Tonight at 7:15 at the Junior High School, some 45 musicians will await the up-beat of Director George Brown's baton for the second rehearsal of the season. The initial meeting a week ago was vastly encouraging to those who steer the fortunes of this latest of Andover's community projects, for an even 40 players responded to the call, including 14 new members—a far cry from the eleven original optimists who, just two years ago, met for the first time in Bart Hayes' living room to scrape away at Bach chorales. Tonight, when Joseph Pulvino, prominent soloist and violin teacher of Lawrence, takes his seat as concert-master, he will have with him players, not only from Andover, Ballardvale, and Lawrence, but from North Andover and Methuen, Lowell, Groveland, Boxford, and even from Plaistow, N. H.

The Executive Committee of the orchestra consists of Helen Eaton and Jessie Higgins of Andover, Frances Magoon and George Denison of Lawrence, and Herbert Kinsolving of Andover. Additional officers are Richard Pieters, librarian; Helen Barss, ticket manager; and Grenville Benedict, publicity director.

Fire Damages Old Rennie Farm

A fire in old Rennie farm on Argilla road, now owned by Emil Sigouin, damaged one room quite extensively yesterday afternoon. Firemen arriving at the scene shortly after the alarm found that it had spread extensively through the room, and it was nearly an hour before the blaze was finally extinguished. It was expected that Lieut. Frank Hale, a representative of the state marshal's office in Lowell, would investigate this second fire on Argilla road within the space of two weeks.

How the fire started remained something of a mystery this morning. The house was apparently unoccupied at the time, but an unidentified woman had previously been cleaning there. The alarm who discovered the blaze when it was turned in by a young child, was well along.

Box 25 was sounded at 3:13 for the fire, and Ladder 1, Engine 1, and the brush fire truck responded from the Central station, Combination 2 assisting from Ballardvale.

Sergt. Nicoll Assumes New Duties Monday

David Nicoll, a member of the Andover Police Department for the past four years, was yesterday appointed sergeant by the Board of Selectmen, filling a vacancy in the department which has existed since the retirement, last June, of Sergt. Leonard Saunders. He begins his new duties Monday.

DEATHS

On Wednesday morning Miss Alice Boutwell, 62, a native of West Andover, died at the home of Mrs. Arthur Boutwell on Shawsheen road. She had been an invalid for many years, but for the past several weeks had been more seriously ill. She had attended the public schools and was a graduate of Bradford Academy. Her brother, Winthrop Boutwell, and several nieces and nephews survive.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2:00, with services in the West Parish Church, of which she was a member for many years. Rev. Donald Savage and Rev. Newman Matthews will conduct the services, and burial will take place in the family lot in West Parish cemetery.

The All Out Effort

First Aid Instructors To Be Trained Here

The Andover Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a First Aid Instructor Training Course during the week of October 13. The classes, which will last for three hours each, will be held at the Andover Town Hall each evening, Monday through Friday, at 7:30. The course will be conducted by Dr. Raymond J. Lutz, who is being sent from the National Headquarters of the Red Cross at Washington for this purpose.

The course is open to those who have completed the Standard First Aid Course and as a brush up course to those already holding instructors certificates. In a few instances persons who have completed only the Standard Course but have had other First Aid Training or experience, may be admitted. Such persons, if interested in the course, should discuss their qualifications with Dr. Charles A. Currier, Chapter Chairman of First Aid.

Andover is faced with the necessity of training many people in First Aid in connection with the Civilian Defense Program. In order to meet the emergency a large corps of qualified lay instructors is essential. The Red Cross hopes that all those in our community having the necessary qualifications will enroll in the Course.

Women's Defense School Opens Monday Morning

The school bell rings next Monday morning for some 32 Andover women, now getting ready for the first session, at that time, of the newly-organized Women's Defense School. Morning sessions at the school are to be held in the South Church on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, starting each day at 9 o'clock, and there will be an hour's drill each Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles D. Thompson, headmistress of the school, has announced the names of the following registrants for it: Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis, Mrs. W. R. Hill, Mrs. Dean B. Walen, Mrs. Winsor E. Gale, Mrs. Gwendolyn B. Sandberg, Mrs. Donald MacDonald, Mrs. J. S. Moses, Mrs. G. Milton Day, Mrs. Cornelia Fitts, Mrs. Phillip K.

European Artists, American Art

Addison Gallery Exhibits Work Of Foreign-born Painters

It looks as American as an ice cream soda, but was painted by a native of Hungary. "Scene at a Country Fair" (1940) by Zoltan Sepeshy.

European artists form at the present time an important section of the teaching staffs of many American art schools and college art departments. That they exert some sort of influence is obvious, but in what way this influence is felt, how it affects American art, whether American traditions have a reciprocal influence on them, isn't quite so apparent.

The hope of throwing light on these controversial problems is the motive behind the Addison Gallery of American Art's putting on an exhibition entitled "European Artists Teaching in America," to be on view until November 9. The artists included have all come to this country from Europe since the last war, and are all teaching here at the present time. Some have appointments at colleges, others are on school faculties, still others are conducting their own art schools.

In the case of each of the 14 artists represented, three or four paintings are included, one or two of them dating from European days in comparison with others done since coming to America. Significant changes, noticeable in a number of these, are variously ascribed by their creators to the directness of our way of life, to the clarity of the air and the brilliance of the light in America. They are seen in an increased use of strong contrasts and bright colors, and in a more precise handling of the paint.

In addition, each artist has been asked to comment on his philosophy of teaching in relation to the American environment. A study of these opinions indicates that they stress primarily the necessity for developing the personality and individuality of the student. They emphasize, too, the importance of finished work and sound craftsmanship, deploring the American tendency to forego the long and arduous training considered fundamental in Europe.

More than three hundred people came in to see the exhibition during the three hours the Gallery was open last Sunday afternoon. That is a pretty good indication that the showing is more than an ordinary one. Andover visitors, artistically inclined or not, can get a good idea of the difference between American and European philosophies by taking a look at the contrasting paintings included in the display.

Local Men Attend Welding School

Because of the increasing demand for welders in the National Defense program, many local young men are attending the welding school at the Institute for Industrial Training in Lawrence. After graduating, they will be given positions in some branch of private or government construction.

Those attending from Andover are: George C. Hatch, Samuel Deyermund, Frank Bodenrader, Frederick B. Dodge, Louis J. McIntyre, John Leary, and Gerald L. Todd.

The BON MARCHE of LOWELL

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, October 2, 1941

PERSONALS

Returning this week for her final year at Boston University's Sargent School of Physical Education is Miss Helen Beer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Beer of Summer street. She recently completed a summer course at the John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Arthur Sweeney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sweeney of 64 Central street, is attending Bowdoin College this year. He prepared for Bowdoin at the Holderness School in Plymouth, N. H., and is a pledge of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Proctor W. Ransden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alberto M. Ransden of 29 Coolidge road, was included in the dean's list recently issued at the University of Maine, where he is a junior. Mr. Ransden is studying forestry, and is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity.

Miss Lois Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ferguson of Chestnut street, has entered the Harvard Training class at the Perkins Institute for the Blind in Wadsworth. A former student at Pundard, Miss Ferguson is also a graduate of the Wheelock School.

Miss Patsy Selden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Selden, and a graduate of Abbot Academy with last June's class, is now studying at the Ashley Hall School.

Marjorie Estella Higgins of 1 Carmel road, has been awarded the Winifred Armstrong scholarship at Simmons College for the year 1941-42, according to an announcement made by Dean Jane Louise Mesick.

Abbot Academy Notes

The Abbot Yearbook for 1941 was again rated first class by the National Scholastic Press Association. Dorothy Harvey, of Orchard Lake, Michigan, who edited the book, deserves much credit, as well as the photographer, the engraver and the printer who produced the book. The lowest score made by a yearbook in the same group into which Abbot Academy falls was 800. Abbot's score was 910. All American rating, the highest possible, begins with a score of 925.

Regular classes began this week, and the school is now running almost as smoothly as though there had been no interruption of summer vacation or building construction. The Senior Class will migrate for a few hours Saturday to their annual picnic grounds and will return for an entertainment in their honor by the students of Homestead and Sherman cottages, and by the underclassmen of Draper Hall.

On Sunday evening, at 7:30, the Rev. Brainard F. Gibbons will address the school at its weekly vesper service, at which friends of Abbot are always welcome. Last Sunday Miss Hearsey conducted the first vesper service of the year, speaking on the subject, "Order Out of Chaos." She gave the students three suggestions as to how this might be accomplished by them in their school life; namely, one step at a time, keeping one's goal ever in mind, and faithfully sustaining the effort toward the goal.

Punchard Notes

By Sally O'Riordan

The day was fine, the game was won, the band was perfect, too. It was a day of victory for us, for them, for you,

Yes, Punchard's name was raised again higher than before,

The Punchard boys fought hard to win, could you expect much more?

The band, too, was triumphant as they marched down on the green, As they greeted all with the "hello," a sight that should be seen.

All of us are eager that the team and band win fame,

And we should see to it they do, to keep up that great name.

As you should know by now, I'm talking about the 27th of September, the day of victory for Punchard. The opening game of the football season showed the spirit of the Punchardites in many ways. The team beat the Andover J. V's 20-0, the cheer leaders were as peppy as could be, and the band, as usual, went over big.

Before the game the band marched under the goal posts and down the field to the march, "Military Escort," then stood at attention facing the rooters. Following this, they marched off the field to "Ensign." Between the halves they again took over and formed the letters "A" for Andover and "P" for Punchard, and the word "hello" to greet the folks. Marching out of the football grounds after the game, they went around to the front of the auditorium where their pictures were taken by Donald Look.

Junior High Notes

By Miriam Dearborn

Watch next week for the outcome of the school election. The candidates have been nominated, have chosen their campaign managers and have passed in their speeches. Elections are being held today, and the whole school is very anxiously waiting for the returns.

Last Wednesday, at the school assembly, a moving picture entitled
"New England Today and Yesterday," was shown, the new movie projector being used for the first time.

Last Tuesday two tag football games were played with the Greens against the Blues, and the Golds against the Reds. The Greens won over the Blue, 15 to 9. Stanley Parembe of the Blues made a touchdown. The Golds defeated the Reds, 13 to 0. Warren Knipe, Jay O'Connor of the Gold team,
both made touchdowns.

Those who played on the Gold team were: Benjamin Baldwin,
Donald Coleman, Stuart Fraser,
William Dole, Warren Knipe, Philip Markey, Fred McCollum, John McVey, Alex Meek, Walter Morrissey, Jay O'Connor, Norman Parsons, and Hector Patullo.

Those playing on the Red team against the Golds, were: Donald Lynch, William Lowe, Ted White,
Donald Dane, Robert Connolly, Alex
Stewart, John Thomson, James

Lowe, William Stafford, Warren
Kelfer, Jack Batal, and Glen Noble.
The members of the Blue team were: George Avery, James Batson, William Brogan, Paul Brucato, Francis Chick, Robert Creamer,
Deighton Emmons, James Kellette,
John King, Paul Marier, Stanley
Poremba, William Ware, Charles Waterman, William Watts, and Robert Waugh.

The names of the members of the Green team will be published next week.

Four girls from the Senior High School have been elected, because of their ability in leadership and their skill in sports, to assist the Junior High School girls intramural program for the year. They are Joan Felles, Esther Evans, Jeanne Gregory, and Theresa Nollet.

THE NEW REX ROOF LOWELL, MASS.

The new Rex Roof Garden is providing a very popular place and is being used almost every night for functions of one kind or another.

It is an ideal set-up for wedding, banquets or functions of any kind, and all people who have seen the new set-up are loud in their praise of unusual lighting arrangements.

Also, the Rex Grille has been doing a capacity business since opening, and with the newly arranged entrance to the roof garden is providing more popular than ever.—Adv.

Vocational Guidance To Be Discussed Here

The meeting for permanent organization of the Merrimack Valley Guidance Association will be held at the Andover Inn next Monday evening, October 6.

Following the dinner, at 6 o'clock, there will be a program of addresses by prominent speakers, and business will be transacted dealing with the establishment of this branch of the National Vocational Guidance Association.

The organizing committee and the high schools they represent are: Edward C. Manning, Punchard; Daniel F. Sullivan, Lawrence; Miss Mary Tobin, Lowell;

Mrs. Cora M. Barry, Newburyport;
Richard C. Wallace, Haverhill;
Miss Martha Shaber, Nashua,
N. H., Junior High; and John A.
Brodhead of Andover. Mrs. Emma G. Carter of the Pynchard faculty is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Careful consideration has been given to the scope of membership admissions, and provision is being made to include anyone interested in guidance whether engaged in it, professionally or not, in industry,
business, social work, education or other fields.

St. Augustine's Holds October Devotions

In the Catholic religion, church seasons are as carefully allotted, the year around, as those in the natural world, and certain periods, besides those of Lent and Pentecost, common to all Christian faiths, are set off for special devotion. The month of October being one of these consecrated times, St. Augustine's church inaugurated yesterday a new schedule of morning services.

Masses during the current month will be celebrated at 7:45, fifteen minutes later than the usual starting time, in order to allow more of the parishioners to attend, and the pupils of the higher grades in the parochial school will assist daily at the mass. The Rosary will be recited each day, and special prayers offered by the congregation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS CONSECRATION SERVICE

A very impressive consecration service was held last Sunday morning at the regular morning devotions in the West Church. About 80 children between the ages of 4 and 16 were registered for the Sunday school with more expected next week. Eighteen officers and teachers make up the school faculty with Mrs. Earl Slate as superintendent.

WOMEN'S UNION HOLD GUEST NIGHT

The October meeting of the Junior Women's Union will be held on Thursday evening, October 9, in the vestry of the West Church. A catered supper will be served at 7:00 to members and their husbands or invited guests. The guest speaker will be Herman Brase of Lowell State Teachers College.

Junior Women's Guild Opens Season With Supper

The Junior Woman's Guild is to meet in the Parish House of Christ Church on Tuesday evening, October 7. A turkey dinner will be served to the members at 6:30 after which two short plays will be presented by the Laurel Players of Lawrence. The public is invited to attend the plays, for which a small admission will be charged.

Defence Against Waste

The laundry really does save you time—gives you a chance to follow many other activities besides the weekly chore of washing. And the cost is so small . . . it doesn't pay to do your own wash.

For More Time — Let the Laundry do it.

Andover Steam Laundry

Mrs. John Newall is chairman of the committee making arrangements, the other members being Mrs. Alex Ritchie, Jr., Mrs. J. Everett Collins, Mrs. Robert Mower, Mrs. Howard Young, Miss Lucy Stewart and Mrs. Roger Lewis.

Philatheas, Women's Union To Hold Rummage Sale

The Philathea Class and the Woman's Union of the Baptist Church are jointly sponsoring a rummage sale, to be held on Saturday, October 4, in the church basement. The sale will begin at 9 a. m.

The church vestry will be open all this evening to receive articles donated for the sale.

Plans are as yet incomplete for the annual fair sponsored by the same organizations, to be held this year on Saturday, November 29. Present plans, however, are for an "around the world" fair, with different booths featuring the principal products of various countries.

Church Service League

The Church Service League of the Congregational Church has substituted two bakery sales for the annual church harvest supper.

The first sale was held yesterday, when many delicious articles were on sale in the church vestry. The home cooked pies, cakes, breads and other goodies found many ready purchasers.

Plans for the next sale, to be held sometime in the near future, are as yet incomplete.

NEW CHOIR DIRECTOR

George Alfred Lowe of Methuen has been appointed the new choir director of the West Church, to take the place of Miss Irene Robinson, who resigned to accept the position of organist at the Methodist Church, North Andover. Mr. Lowe has had many years of experience in choir music and directing in the Universalist churches of Lawrence and Haverhill. The first rehearsal under his direction will be held at the West Church vestry this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Commodity Year Book — 1941." Business of today requires a complete appreciation of three vital considerations: war-time price movements, availability of supplies, and measures of government control, such as priorities, rationing and price control. This work supplies that demand.

Marketing procedures are analyzed for 75 commodities; among the articles listed are alcohol, aluminum, beer, brick, burlap, cement, coal, coconut oil, copper, cotton, flour, gasoline, hides, kerosene, lard, leather, managanes, milk, peanuts, rayon, rubber, soybeans, tobacco, tung oil, wheat and wool.

Charts give an excellent graphic picture of the changes in various industries in recent years.

Hundreds of tables of prices, supplies, and demand are listed, some going back over a period of years, each from an official or authoritative source.

Young People's Library

WHY DOESN'T SOMEONE EVER TELL ME THESE THINGS?

- 1 Do you know there are 19 trains from Andover to Boston every day?
- 2 Do you know there are 18 trains from Boston to Andover every day?
- 3 Do you know there are 18 other trains going from Andover to such points as Lawrence, Haverhill, Exeter, N. H., Dover, N. H., and intermediate stations?
- 4 We have experts at our stations who are glad to have you ask if there is anything you do not understand.
- 5 The coach fare on the Boston and Maine and all other Eastern Railroads is based on 2c a mile. No one can drive a car at this low cost.
- 6 There are many special bargains in rail fares such as:
  - (1) 12-ride commuter's tickets to Boston.
  - (2) very low cost monthly tickets for daily riders.
  - (3) round trip tickets to western, southern and northern points.
  - (4) party tickets at reduced fares to any point on our lines when ten or more persons travel together at one time.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

If we've got to drive along at 35 or 40 miles an hour, driving a car becomes even more of a chore. After all, it's a lot more fun to travel by train and speed mile after mile in carefree comfort - on the B and M.
